

Drones and Flying Cars in the future?

THE PIZZA

By Craig Casazza, Forbes.com (Excerpt) April 24.2017

In New Hampshire, a drone was delivering a pizza which fell on a man and his car. The pizzeria was sued for more than $300,000 by the man. The restaurant's insurance company refused to back the claim because its policy did not include drones. They stated that all incidents involving "aircraft" is excluded.

However, the policy did include a drone after a legal battle. All Insurance companies may be forced to pay claims that involve drones.

Insurance companies also need to include clearer language and possibly provide an endorsement for drone owners.

UBER FLYING CAR TAXI

On Tuesday, April 25th, Uber announced that a flying car taxis will be used in North Texas over the Metroplex in a few years. Uber estimates rider costs could be $20 for a 15 minute flight from Dallas to Fort Worth.

What will be the cost for an individual purchasing a flying car and insurance?

The Rankin Insurance Agency does not know.
